40TH ANNUAL
VOLUSIA COUNTY
SOCIAL STUDIES FAIR

MIDDLE-HIGH STUDENT GUIDE
The Volusia County Social Studies Fair is an exciting learning opportunity which encourages students to explore different areas of the social studies, develop a product and compare and their work with that of other students from all over Volusia County. Additionally, the fair can be a stepping stone to the Florida History Fair and National History Day competitions. The skills used in participating in the creation of fair projects are aligned with the Sunshine State Standards and FSA assessments. We hope that all students who participate in the fair develop a greater interest in Social Studies while acquiring new knowledge and skills.

This new STUDENT GUIDE contains all rules, regulations, and suggestions for student participation in the fair. Information may also be obtained on the Volusia County Social Studies homepage.

The final product a student submits for the school and/or county fair competition MUST BE THEIR OWN WORK. Students are encouraged to explore ideas with parents, teachers, and friends and may ask them for help in locating information. Students, however, must prepare and execute their own performance, presentation or product.

This year’s fair theme is “TRIUMPH AND TRAGEDY IN HISTORY”. Students may select a topic on any aspect of local, regional, national or world history. Regardless of the topic chosen, the presentation of research and conclusions MUST clearly relate to the theme. The County Fair will be held at New Smyrna Beach High School Friday, February 22, 2019 (set-up) & Saturday (judging), February 23, 2019.

Effective entries not only describe an event or development, they also analyze it and place it in its historical context. Students should consider these questions when selecting a topic:

- How is my topic important?
- How was my topic significant in history in relation to the theme?
- How did my topic develop over time?
- How did my topic influence history?
- How did the events and atmosphere of my topic’s time period influence my topic in history?
In the categories of Exhibits and Performances the judging criteria is further explained below:

- Historical Quality – The most important aspect of an entry is its historical quality. The following questions help focus an entry’s historical quality:

  Is my entry historically accurate? Does my entry provide analysis and interpretation of the historical data rather than just a description? Does my entry demonstrate an understanding of the historical context? Does my bibliography demonstrate wide research and a variety of sources, especially primary sources?

- Clarity of Presentation – Although historical quality is most important, an entry must be presented in an effective manner. The following questions help focus an entry’s presentation:

  Is my entry original, creative, and imaginative in subject and presentation? Is my written material clear, grammatical, and correctly spelled? Do I display stage presence in a performance? Is the visual material I present clear? Do I understand and properly use all equipment?

- Relation to Theme – The entry must clearly explain the relation of your topic to the annual theme. The following questions help focus the student’s topic on the theme and its significance:

  How does my topic relate to the theme? Why is my topic important? How is my topic significant in history in relation to the theme? How did my topic influence history? How did the events and atmosphere of my topic’s time period influence my topic in history?

No entry may be judged Superior with a rules infraction. This includes students being present for judging on Saturday, February 23rd (exhibits, performances, and bowl team students).
1. Students may not reuse an entry from a previous year.

2. Students may participate in only one fair event.

3. Students must produce their own entries. Objects created by others specifically for use in a student’s entry violates this rule. For example, photographs or video supplied or produced by a parent could not be used in an entry.

4. Unless otherwise stipulated, students must supply all props and equipment to support their entry. Tables for exhibits, TVs and VCRs for media production will be available at the fair site.

5. Items that could be potentially dangerous in any way -- such as weapons, firearms, animals etc. -- are strictly prohibited.

6. Students may have only one entry in the County Fair.

7. School representatives must register all entries. Entries that have not been officially registered will not be judged.

8. Award winners, or a representative from the school must be present at awards ceremony on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Awards will not be automatically forwarded to the schools (except in the area of historical papers).

Those who enter the historical paper category need not attend the fair. Historical papers are submitted at an earlier date and judged separately. Awards will be forwarded to the school.

First, second and third place winners will receive plaques. Only one plaque will be awarded to group winners; however, each team member will receive a ribbon and certificate. Participation ribbons will be given to all other entries.

Special awards and plaques may be distributed by various civic organizations and support groups.
9. The Volusia Council for the Social Studies and the Volusia County School Board are NOT responsible for the loss or damage of any projects. All projects displayed will be dismantled immediately after the awards ceremony on Saturday.

ITEMS NOT PICKED UP BY 3:00 P.M. SATURDAY WILL BE DISCARDED.

A Note to Homeschool Students

Home school students wishing to participate in the Volusia County Social Studies Fair may enter in one of two ways: 1) students must first compete and win at a home school association fair (the association must contact Robert Milholland for quota information), or 2) a homeschool student may participate in the school fair at the Volusia County School they are zoned for, and compete for a spot at the Volusia County Fair.
“TRIUMPH AND TRAGEDY IN HISTORY”

Every year the Social Studies Fair frames students' research within a historical theme. The theme is chosen by the National History Day (NHD) Foundation for the broad application to world, national, or state history and its relevance to ancient history or to the more recent past. This year’s theme is Triumph and Tragedy in History. The intentional selection of the theme for NHD is to provide an opportunity for students to push past the antiquated view of history as mere facts and dates and drill down into historical content to develop perspective and understanding.

The following is not an exhaustive list but simply a set of suggestions. Students can choose from these topics or use these to help them brainstorm for other ideas. Students are free to choose from a broad range of individuals, groups, or documents relating to the theme.

National Topics – Some topics excerpted from National History Day

During the 2018–2019 school year you and all National History Day students will dive into a topic based on the theme Triumph & Tragedy in History. You will ask questions about time, place and context, cause and effect, change over time, and impact and significance. You must consider not only when and where events happened, but also why they occurred, and what factors contributed to their development. You will describe your topic and then further develop it through analysis, drawing conclusions about how the topic influenced and was influenced by people, ideas, or events.

Each year National History Day selects a theme that is intentionally broad enough so that you can select topics from anywhere in the world and any time period. After deciding on your research topic, you must investigate historical context, historical significance, and the topic’s relationship to the theme by conducting research in libraries, archives, and museums; through oral history interviews; and by visiting historic sites. Also remember to use evidence from your research to explain how your topic has influenced history. How did your topic create change?

Does every project need to include both triumph and tragedy? That depends on the topic you select. Look closely— most topics will include elements of both triumph and tragedy. History is inherently uneven, and there will not always be an equal split between the two sides. Do not ignore connections to both aspects of the theme when they exist, but do not force your topic to fit into both sides of the theme.

The Triumph & Tragedy in History theme is complex and requires you to view history through multiple perspectives. Can one person’s triumph be another’s tragedy? Can the same person or group suffer from tragedy and triumph at the same time? How does one ultimately triumph after tragedy? Can triumph lead to tragedy? Throughout this academic year you will ask yourself these questions and more, always looking for how and why.

What is triumph? According to Merriam Webster, the definition of triumph is “a victory or conquest by or as if by military force, or a notable success.” What does that mean in history? How can you define a historical event as a triumph? The first definition listed is victory by military force. Looking at military battles provides examples of triumphs, and tragedies, throughout history. Also contemplate the second definition, “a notable success.” How would you define a notable success in history? Consider the first organ transplant, or the first time Alexander Graham Bell spoke into the telephone and someone heard him at the other end. Does history remember those events as triumphs? If so, why? What makes them triumphant?

What is tragedy? Merriam Webster defines tragedy as a “disastrous event.” What are some examples of disastrous events throughout history? You could look to England in the mid-1500s. Many remember Lady Jane Grey as a tragic figure, but what makes her situation tragic? Or think back to America’s Trail of Tears. What decisions allowed that event to come to fruition? What was the impact of those decisions? Who suffered the consequences? Examine the Tiananmen Square Protests of 1989. What were the consequences of those Beijing protests?

Can one person’s triumph be another’s tragedy? Whether an event is considered a tragedy or a triumph depends on one’s perspective. Often a triumph for one is a tragedy for another. The American Civil War offers numerous opportunities for in-depth research on a single aspect of the war. There were many triumphs, the North over the South, unionism over sectionalism, freedom over slavery, but what tragedies resulted because of this conflict? Did everyone feel that those were triumphs?

Why or why not? How did one side view the events and consequences compared to the other side? If you are interested in architecture, perhaps you might choose to research the San Francisco earthquakes of 1906 and 1989. How did the consequences of the 1906 earthquake influence changes in engineering and design that would lessen the damage of the 1989 earthquake?

Can a person or group suffer both tragedy and triumph from a single event? Did Frederick Douglass triumph when he escaped from slavery? How did he use his freedom? What tragedies did he continue to face? Was he ever treated as an equal during his lifetime? Nuclear scientist Robert Oppenheimer triumphed with his most famous creation, but what tragic outcome came out of his invention? How did he view his work throughout his lifetime? Mahatma Gandhi led India to independence with his strategy of passive resistance, triumphing over violent protest. What impact did that movement have on the Muslim-Hindu relationship? What tragedies occurred and what ultimately caused them? How did independence affect the people living in the region?

How does one ultimately triumph after tragedy? Consider the tragedy of Pompeii. An entire community was tragically eradicated by a volcanic eruption, but what about the archaeologists who discovered it? How would you characterize their discovery? How have their discoveries affected life today? Are these discoveries important? If so, why? Think about the settlement of the American West. The settlers faced tragedy along the way, dealing with harsh weather, inhospitable terrain, and violent conflicts as they traveled west. How did their journey end? Did they eventually triumph in the face of such tragedy? How did their journey affect the future of America as a nation?

Can triumph lead to tragedy? Consider Neville Chamberlain’s efforts to appease Adolf Hitler. What did people of the time think of that policy? What tragedies eventually resulted because of it? Many Russian people lost faith in Tsar Nicholas II’s government and believed it was corrupt. Why did they decide it was corrupt? Nicholas was forced to abdicate his throne. What were the short-term effects of his abdication? The long-term impacts? Was his abdication a triumph for the Russian people? Did they achieve the change they were hoping for, or did it later lead to tragedy?

Sometimes the best stories are in your own backyard. Local history can open the doors to amazing stories. Check your libraries and historical societies for collections in your neighborhood, town, city, or state. In addition, the National Park Service, with historic sites throughout the United States, is a rich source of local history. For example, the Whitman Mission National Historic Site tells the story of Marcus and Narcissa Whitman, their Methodist mission in southeastern Washington, and their murder in 1874 by Cayuse Indians. That series of events reflects the interaction of cultures, religions, ideas, and perspectives.

Whether you decide to research ancient history, a local topic, or anything else, you must always place your project within its historical context. Examine the significance of the topic in history and show development over time.

Your research should start with secondary sources, and then you can look for available primary sources. Using your research skills, you should clearly explain the topic’s relationship to the theme Triumph & Tragedy in History. Always remember to support your interpretations of your topic’s significance in history with evidence. With the knowledge and understanding gained from your research, you can develop quality papers, performances, exhibits, websites, and documentaries for National History Day.
1. Maps: (Middle School) Entries must be one-dimensional and no larger than 22" x 30" (poster board, foam board or parchment paper may be used). Map must be hand-drawn. Map must include a compass rose, legend, and scale (if appropriate). A WRITTEN EXPLANATION OF THE MAP MUST ACCOMPANY THE PROJECT, INCLUDING HOW THE PROJECT WAS MADE AND ITS RELATIONSHIP TO THE THEME (up to 500 words), and must include an annotated bibliography. See sample process paper in the student fair guide.

   Judging Criteria: Accuracy, Appearance, Creativity, Originality and Relation to Theme.

2. Three-Dimensional Maps: (Middle School) Entries must be no larger than 22" x 30" (poster board, foam board or parchment paper may be used). Map must be hand-drawn. Map must include compass rose, legend, and scale (if appropriate). A WRITTEN EXPLANATION OF THE 3-D MAP MUST ACCOMPANY THE PROJECT, INCLUDING HOW THE PROJECT WAS MADE AND ITS RELATIONSHIP TO THE THEME (up to 500 words), and must include an annotated bibliography. See sample process paper in the student fair guide.

   Judging Criteria: Accuracy, Appearance, Creativity, Originality, and Relation to Theme.

3. Crafts: (Middle School) Entries are typically handmade items such as quilts, needlework, costumes, flags, period furniture, metal ware, candles, cooking ware, etc. The overall size of a craft project may not exceed 40 inches wide, 30 inches deep, and 6 feet high. CRAFT ENTRY SHOULD NOT RESEMBLE A DISPLAY. A WRITTEN EXPLANATION OF THE CRAFT MUST ACCOMPANY THE PROJECT, INCLUDING HOW THE PROJECT WAS MADE AND ITS RELATIONSHIP TO THE THEME (up to 500 words), and must include an annotated bibliography. See sample process paper in the student fair guide.

   Judging Criteria: Appearance, Creativity Originality, and Relationship to Theme.
B. EXHIBITS  (middle and high school students)

*Winners may qualify for State and National Fairs.
*Individual and Group (2-3 students) entries.
*ALL students must be present for judging on Saturday morning, February 23rd.

An exhibit is a visual representation of your research and interpretation of your topic’s significance in history - much like a small museum exhibit. Your analysis and interpretation of your topic must be must be clear and evident to the viewer. Labels and captions should be used creatively with drawn or collected visual images and objects to enhance the message of your project.

Judging Criteria: Historical Quality, Relation to Theme, Clarity of Presentation, and Rules Compliance.

1. Size Requirements: The overall size of your exhibit when displayed for judging must be no larger than 40 inches wide, 30 inches deep, and 6 feet high. Measurement of the project does not include the table on which it rests; however, it would include any stand that you create and any table drapes. Circular or rotating projects must be no more the 30 inches in diameter.
2. Media Devices: Media devices (tape recorders, projectors, video monitors, computers) may be used in the display; however, they must not run for more than 3 minutes. Viewers and judges must be able to control media devices. Any media devices used must fit within the size limits of the project.

3. Written Materials: All exhibits must be accompanied by the following written items:

   a. Title Page—including only the title of your exhibit, student(s)' name(s)

   b. Entry Description—Students must provide a description of no more than 500 words that relates how they conducted their research and developed their entry. The description should conclude with an explanation of how the entry relates to the fair theme. THIS IS NOT A RESEARCH REPORT.

   c. Annotated Bibliography—all sources that provided usable information in preparing the entry should be cited. Sources of visual materials and oral interviews must be included. The annotations for each source must explain how the source was used and how it helped you understand your topic. Primary and Secondary sources must be separated in the bibliography.

   Example of Annotated Bibliography:

   Daisy Bates was the president of the Arkansas NAACP and the one who met and listened to the students each day. Her account was very important to my paper because it made me more aware of the feelings of the people involved.

   d. Words in or on Exhibit—There is a 500-word limit on student composed written materials used in or on the exhibit. This includes any media devices (computers, slides, video) and/or any supplemental materials used in the exhibit. This 500-word limit is in addition to the title page, entry description and annotated bibliography. This limit does not apply to documents, oral history quotations, artifacts with writing, or other non-student written illustrative materials that are used as an integral part of the project.

   e. Style Guides—Style for citations and bibliographic references must follow the principals in one of the following style guides: Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations (6th edition, University of Chicago Press) or the style guide of the Modern Language Association of America (MLA). See page 18 of this guide.
f. Copies ---- Three copies of the entry paper with annotated bibliography (items a,b,c) must be provided with the exhibit at the time of judging. Copies must be typed or neatly printed on plain white paper and stapled together in the top left corner. Do not enclose them in a cover or binder.

4. Discussion with Judges
   Students should be prepared to answer judges’ questions about the content and development of an entry.

5. Costumes
   Students are not permitted to wear costumes that are related to focus of their entry during judging.

C. BOWL COMPETITIONS (middle and high school students)

* Bowl Competitions do not qualify to compete in the Florida or National Fairs.
* Bowl Competition takes places Saturday morning, February 23rd.

The Bowl competitions are divided as follows:

Middle: One team per grade level (6, 7, and 8). Four students per grade level team.

At 6th grade competition will be based on the District M/J Ancient World History curriculum and Current Events.

The 7th grade competition will be based on the District M/J Civics curriculum and Current Events.

The 8th grade competition will be based on the District M/J U.S. History curriculum and Current Events.

High: The high school bowl will test overall social studies knowledge in a variety of areas.

General information:

Teams consist of four students and it is suggested that an alternate be selected in case one member is absent. One person per school team is chosen to announce team answers. All team members may communicate with each other before the spokesperson replies.

Teams will compete round robin for a minimum of four rounds. A run-off will then be held between the top teams.

Current events information will be drawn primarily from trivia questions produce from the district Social Studies office.
D. PERFORMANCES  (middle and high school students)
*Winners may qualify for State and National Fairs.
*Individual and Group (2-5 students) entries.
*ALL students must be present for judging on Saturday morning, February 23rd.

A performance is a dramatic portrayal of your topic's significance in history, and must be original in composition. This category takes the place of "living biographical monologues" and "dramatic presentations" found in previous Volusia County Fairs. This category is divided into individual and group competition.

Judging Criteria: Historical Quality, Relation to Theme, Clarity of Presentation, and Rules Compliance.

1. Time Requirements: Performances may not exceed 10 minutes in length. Timing starts at the beginning of the performance, following the announcement of the title and student name(s). Any other introductory remarks will be considered part of the performance and counted as part of the overall time. You will be allowed an additional 5 minutes to set up and 5 minutes to remove any props needed for your performance.

2. Introduction: The title of your entry and the name(s) of the participant(s) must be first and only announcements prior to the start of the performance.

3. Media Devices: Use of slides, tape recorders, computers, or other media within your performance is permitted. Entry students must run all equipment and carry out any special lighting effects.

4. Script: The script for the performance should not be included with the written material presented to the judges.

5. Props and Costumes: Props and costumes are limited to what students can wear or hand carry for their performance.

6. Written Materials: A title page, bibliography and entry description are required.
   a. Title Page----including only the title of your exhibit, student(s)' name(s)
   b. Entry description----Students must provide a description of no more than 500 words that relates how they conducted their research and developed their entry. The description should conclude with an explanation of how the entry relates to the fair theme. THIS IS NOT A RESEARCH REPORT AND SHOULD NOT INCLUDE THE SCRIPT.
   c. Annotated Bibliography ----- all sources that provided usable information in preparing the entry should be cited. Sources of visual materials and oral interviews must be included. The annotations for each source must explain how the source was used and how it helped you understand your topic. Primary and Secondary sources must be separated in the bibliography.
Example of Bibliography:

Daisy Bates was the president of the Arkansas NAACP and the one who met and listened to the students each day. Her account was very important to my paper because it made me more aware of the feelings of the people involved.

E. DOCUMENTARY – (middle and high school students)

*Winners may qualify for State and National Fairs.

*Individual and Group (2-3 students) entries.

*ALL students must be present for judging on Saturday morning, February 23rd.

Documentaries, including computer presentations, should relate to the fair theme and reflect your ability to use media to communicate your topic’s significance, much like professional television documentaries (hint: try to produce a documentary that has the Ken Burns effect). The documentary category will help students develop skills in using a variety of primary sources that include photographs, film, video, audiotapes, and graphic presentations. Your presentation should include primary materials, but should also be an original composition. To produce a documentary entry, you must bring and operate your own equipment. Only TV’s and DVD players are provided at the Fair. Computer entries must provide their own equipment.

Judging Criteria: Historical Quality, Relation to Theme, Clarity of Presentation, and Rules Compliance.

1. Time Requirements: Presentations may not exceed 10 minutes. Students will be allowed an additional 5 minutes to set up and 5 minutes to remove equipment. Timing will begin when the first visual image of the presentation appears and/or the first sound is heard.

2. Presentation Introduction: Students must announce only the title of their presentation and names of participants. Live narration or comments prior to or during the presentation are prohibited.

3. Student Involvement: Students are responsible for running all equipment.

4. Production: All entries must be student-produced. Students in a group or a student in an individual entry must operate all equipment used in the preparation of the media presentation. Actors in a dramatization, narrators, and voice-overs are limited to the student(s) creating and submitting the entry. For example, teachers or parents MAY NOT photograph or film students. All parts of the production must be completed by the student participants.

5. Entry Composition: Student entries must be original compositions. Professional photographs, film slides, recorded music, etc., may be used within the presentation. However, proper credit for these items must be given within the presentation and in an annotated bibliography.
6. Computer Entries: Student-composed computer programs are acceptable (recommend using video production software such as Windows Movie Maker, Apple’s I-Movie or Final Cut, etc). The program must meet the same 10-minute time limit as other entries in this category. Interactive programs are not acceptable (judges are not permitted to participate in a presentation). PowerPoints will only be accepted if they include voice-over audio and video clips so they appear as documentaries. Remember that this is a documentary production not a school report.

7. Written Materials: Entries must be accompanied by the following written items: A title page, annotated bibliography and entry description is required.
   a. Title page: including only the title of your exhibit, student(s)’ name(s)
   b. Entry Description: Students must provide a description of no more than 500 words that relates how they conducted their research and developed their entry. The description must conclude with an explanation of how the entry relates to the fair theme. THIS IS NOT A RESEARCH REPORT.
   c. Annotated Bibliography: All sources that provided usable information in preparing the entry should be cited. Sources of visual materials and oral interviews must be included. The annotations for each source must explain how the source was used and how it helped you understand your topic. Primary and Secondary choices must be separated in the bibliography.

Example of Annotated Bibliography:

Daisy Bates was the president of the Arkansas NAACP and the one who met and listened to the students each day. Her account was very important to my paper because it made me more aware of the feelings of the people involved.

F. HISTORICAL PAPERS (middle and high school students)
*Winners may qualify for State and National History Fairs.
*Individual student entries only.
*Papers due on February 1, 2019 at the Volusia County Schools Social Studies Office.
*Students need not be present at County Fair.

A paper is the traditional form of presenting historical research. Various types of creative writing (for example, fictional diaries, poems, etc.) are permitted, but must conform to all general and category rules. In either case, papers must be grammatically correct, well written, and relate to the fair theme.

Judging Criteria: Historical Quality, Relation to Theme, Clarity of Presentation, and Rules Compliance.
1. Length Requirements: The text of historical papers must be no less than 1,500 and no more than 2,500 words in length. Notes, annotated bibliography, illustration captions, and supplemental/appendix material do not count in that total. Appendix material must be directly referred to in the text of the paper. Extensive supplemental materials are inappropriate.

2. Citations: Footnotes or endnotes are required. Either Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations or the style guide or the Modern Language Association of America (MLA) may be used. See page 18 in this guide.

3. Preparation Requirements: Papers must be typed, computer printed, or legibly handwritten in ink on plain, white 8 1/2" x 11" paper with 1-inch margins on all sides. Pages must be numbered consecutively and double-spaced with writing on one side and with no more than 12 characters per inch or no less than 10 point type. Papers must be stapled in the top left corner and should not be enclosed in any cover or binder.

4. Time Line: Historical Paper entrants do not need to attend the fair. Entrants may attend the awards program at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday. Three copies of each entry must be submitted to Robert Milholland at the Brewster Center on or before, February 1, 2019. Papers will then be forwarded to the judges.

5. Written Materials: A title page and annotated bibliography are required.
   a. Title Page-----including only the title of your display, student(s)' name(s)

   b. Annotated Bibliography ----- all sources that provided usable information in preparing the entry should be cited. Sources of visual materials and oral interviews must be included. The annotations for each source must explain how the source was used and how it helped you understand your topic. Primary and Secondary sources must be separated in the bibliography.

   Example of Annotated Bibliography:

   Daisy Bates was the president of the Arkansas NAACP and the one who met and listened to the students each day. Her account was very important to my paper because it made me more aware of the feelings of the people involved.
G. WEBSITE

*Middle and High school students may qualify for State and National Fairs.
*Individual and Group (2-5 students) entries.
*ALL students must be present for judging on Saturday morning, February 23rd.

⇒ Websites must conform to the National History Day format and guidelines.

A website should reflect your ability to use website design software and computer technology to communicate your topic's significance in history. Your historical website should be a collection of web pages, interconnected by hyperlinks, that presents both primary and secondary sources and your historical analysis. To engage and inform viewers, your website should incorporate interactive multimedia, text, non-textual descriptions (e.g., photographs, maps, music, etc.), and interpretations of sources. To construct a website, you must have access to the Internet and be able to operate appropriate software and equipment.

Judging Criteria: Historical Quality, Relation to Theme, Clarity of Presentation, and Rules Compliance.

1. ENTRY PRODUCTION

• All entries must be original productions constructed using the NHD website editor:

   http://nhd.org/CategoryWebsite.htm

• You may use professional photographs, graphics, video, recorded music, etc., within the site. Such items must be integrated into the website, and credit must be given within the site and cited in the annotated bibliography.
• You must operate all software and equipment in the development of the website.

NOTE: Using objects or content created by others for specific use in your entry violates this rule. For example, adding viewer comments or using a graphic that others produced at your request is not permitted; however, using graphics, multimedia clips, etc., that already exist is acceptable.

2. SIZE REQUIREMENTS

• Website entries may contain no more than 1,200 visible, student composed words.
• Code used to build the site and alternate text tags on images do not count toward the word limit.
• Also excluded are words found in materials used for identifying illustrations or used to briefly credit the sources of illustrations and quotations; recurring menus, titles, and navigation instructions; required word count notifications; words within primary documents and artifacts; and the annotated bibliography and process paper, which must be integrated into the site.
• The process paper is limited to 500 words. (SEE # 6 BELOW)
• The entire site, including all multimedia, may use no more than 100MB of file space.

3. NAVIGATION OF WEBSITE

• One page of the website must serve as the home page. The home page must include the names of participants, entry title, division, number of student-composed words in the website, number of words in the process paper, and the main menu that directs viewers to the various sections of the site. See figure WEB-A example home page below.
• All pages must be interconnected with hypertext links.
• Automatic redirects are not permitted.

![Image of a site with a home page and example section]

4. DOCUMENTS AND MULTIMEDIA

• The website may contain documents (e.g., newspaper articles, excerpts from written text, etc.), but the documents must be contained within the website.
• The website may contain multimedia clips (audio, video, or both) that total no more than four minutes (e.g., use one four-minute clip, four one-minute clips, two two-minute clips, etc.). Included in the four minute total is any music or songs that play after a page loads.
• You may record quotes and primary source materials for dramatic effect, but you may not narrate your own compositions or other explanatory material.
• If you use any form of multimedia that requires a specific software to view (e.g., Flash, QuickTime, Real Player, etc.), you must provide on the same page a link to an Internet site where the software is available as a free, secure, and legal download.
• You may not use embedded material or link to external websites, other than described in the preceding bullet.
• Judges will make every effort to view all multimedia content, but files that cannot be viewed cannot be evaluated as part of the entry.

5. CREDITING SOURCES

• All quotes from written sources must be credited within the website.
• All visual sources (photographs, videos, paintings, charts, and graphs) must be credited within the website. See figures Web B and Web C below for an example.
• Brief, factual credits do not count toward the student-composed word total. See Figure 6 for an example.
• All sources must be properly cited in the annotated bibliography.

6. REQUIRED WRITTEN MATERIALS

• The annotated bibliography and process paper must be included as an integrated part of the website. They should be included in the navigational structure. They do not count toward the 1,200-word limit.

7. STABLE CONTENT

• The content and appearance of a page cannot change when the page is refreshed in the browser. Random text or image generators are not allowed.

8. VIEWING FILES

• The pages that comprise the site must be viewable in a recent version of a standard web browser (e.g., Microsoft Internet Explorer, Mozilla Firefox, Apple Safari, Google Chrome).
• You are responsible for ensuring that your entry is viewable in multiple web browsers.
• Entries may not link to live or external sites, except to direct viewers to software plug-ins

9. SUBMITTING ENTRIES FOR JUDGING

• You must submit the URL for the site in advance by the established deadline, after which you will be blocked from editing your site to allow for judging.
• Because all required written materials from Part III, Rule 13, are integrated into the site, NO printed copies are required.
• All entries must be original productions constructed using the NHD website editor:

Historians use a wide variety of sources to answer questions about the past. In their research, history scholars use both primary sources and secondary sources. Primary sources are actual records that have survived from the past, such as letters, photographs, articles of clothing. Secondary sources are accounts of the past created by people writing about events sometime after they happened.

For example, your history textbook is a secondary source. Someone wrote most of your textbook long after historical events took place. Your textbook may also include some primary sources, such as direct quotes from people living in the past or excerpts from historical documents.

People living in the past left many clues about their lives. These clues include both primary and secondary sources in the form of books, personal papers, government documents, letters, oral accounts, diaries, maps, photographs, reports, novels and short stories, artifacts, coins, stamps, and many other things. Historians call all of these clues together the historical record.

HOW TO CITE SOURCES

Students may follow the Kate L. Turabian, MLA Style Guides, or Chicago styles. There are web sites such as www.easybib.com or http://citationmachine.net/ that allow you to type your bibliography information in and a proper citation is produced automatically. Note to middle and high school students: do not forget to add your annotations.

Example of Annotated Bibliography:

Daisy Bates was the president of the Arkansas NAACP and the one who met and listened to the students each day. Her account was very important to my paper because it made me more aware of the feelings of the people involved.

The MLA (Modern Language Association) Handbook for Writers of Research Papers suggest:

Alphabetize entries by author. If no author, use the first word of the title (disregard A, An, The).

An entry has three main divisions: author, title, and publication information. Punctuation is very important.

Double-space after the author and title. Single-space the rest of the entry.

A basic entry for a book would be as follows:

Martin Luther and the Reformation
Entry Description

Why I chose this topic?

Last year, I researched Johann Gutenberg which led me to learn about the Renaissance and the Reformation. After going to the state competition, I did additional research on the influence of the printing press in contribution to the Reformation and learned about Martin Luther. Luther and his influence seemed very interesting and I wanted to learn more. Also, since I had a good knowledge of the early history of Europe from my Gutenberg project, I decided to build on that and chose to research Martin Luther and the Reformation.

How I conducted my research:

First, I went on the Internet at school. I then consulted a librarian at my school and got two very useful books. I took notes on those sources. I then outlined my ideas on large flip-chart paper. After doing that I learned that I needed much more information to continue. I went to the electronic encyclopedia on my computer at home and printed out every topic I needed more information on. I went to a public library. I also conducted and interview with our minister to be able to discuss my developing ideas. Next, I interviewed a research librarian at the Illiff School of Theology and acquired primary sources. There were a lot of these. They helped me understand why Luther's impact on society was so great. I immediately started my annotated bibliography so it would not be left until the last minute. Again, but with much more information now, I laid out key ideas on flip charts and started planning my exhibit.

How I created and developed my exhibit:

I prepared one flip chart that outlined events before Martin Luther, another that outlined events after Luther, and the last one, events that occurred during the lifetime of Luther. I then made a draft of the timeline, text picture captions that I was going to use on my board. Then I typed up the text and printed it out in the size and font I needed for the exhibit. I experimented with different boards, and found one that would be wonderful. I laid everything out on my board as a "draft." I condensed the information down so everything would fit, tell the story I wanted to tell and meet the criteria for NHD. Finally, I glued everything down. I then outlined my oral presentation and practiced it in front of my parents.

How my project relates to the theme:

My project relates to the theme in several ways. My project focuses on Martin Luther- a person, yet, when you learn about Luther, it is directly tied in with an event-posting the 95 Theses, and the Protestant Reformation--an idea. It is also a turning point in history. If Martin Luther and other reformers had not taken action, there might not be all of the different religions we know today. The primary religion in Europe and in the New World might still be Roman Catholicism.

Michigan:
A State Divided No More

Individual Performance
On vacation every year, when my sisters and I were younger, we would always fight for the seats in the car for the first glimpse of the Mackinac Bridge towers. Once we reached the bridge, we would stop at a small beach near the foot of the bridge, take pictures and gaze at the incredible beauty of the structure. This forty-three year old engineering marvel has forever changed life in Michigan. It was while visiting the Mackinac City Bridge Museum that I began to consider preparing my project on this structure for it has certainly proved to be a turning point in history.

I purchased three videos that were key secondary sources for my project. These three sources helped me to understand what life was like in the two peninsulas before the bridge, and how that way of life was altered by the construction of the Mackinac Bridge. Additional secondary sources were found on the Internet, at Washington Pennsylvania's library, the Washington and Jefferson College Library, and the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh.

Through my efforts, I located my most important primary source, Lawrence A. Rubin, the original Executive Secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority. Mr. Rubin is the foremost, living authority on the Mackinac Bridge, and he helped me understand the many turning points that the bridge facilitated, such as better medical services and education for the Upper Peninsula. Numerous articles and books dealing with the Mackinac Bridge and written by its designer, David B. Steinman, were extremely helpful. They provided me with insights into the aerodynamic stability of the bridge and turning points that bridges have brought about. Additionally, I visited the State Library of Michigan for many more important primary sources.

I chose to present my findings in the form of a performance because I love to act. In my drama, I portray a man waiting for the ferries, in order to catch a glimpse of what life was like before the bridge and to assess the event that was a turning point in history. I then portray Dr. Steinman to examine his revolutionary ideas in bridge building design. Finally, I depict Mr. Lawrence A. Rubin to analyze the numerous benefits for the Upper Peninsula and the people that were crucial to the building of the Mackinac Bridge.

The completion of the Mackinac Bridge clearly is an important turning point in history. This structure provided the first permanent connection of the two peninsulas of Michigan. The residents of the Upper Peninsula will never again feel isolated and their quality of life is improved. Trade, travel and tourism have boomed, thanks to the bridge. From an engineering viewpoint, this was the first suspension bridge in the world to be aerodynamically "perfect." Through its design, other suspension bridges have become safer and longer. In reflecting on the potential impact of his achievements, David B. Steinman stated, "In human hearts was born the plan: a bridge of peace, uniting man. Our sons will have the span we wrought; the world the dream for which we fought."
Dr. Spock:
Turning the Road in Parenting
I spent a few days last August skimming sources about influential people in history. Initially I was interested in either the revolutionary ideas of great thinkers and psychologists, or the groundbreaking discoveries in medicine. Eventually, I found Dr. Spock and his revolutionary book, Baby and Child Care. Dr. Spock was the first to synthesize pediatrics and psychology. When I read quotes such as, "first in his field," "father of behavioral pediatrics" and "changed the paradigm," I knew I had a fitting and interesting topic.

After researching local libraries, I went to the Allen Medical Library at Case Western Reserve University because Spock had taught there. In order to establish a research trail, my primary goal was to discover when and where Spock was educated. I sent out letters to medical schools, pediatricians, and historians. I formulated a survey that I sent to pediatricians and mothers in the 1950's. Helpful information came from the Mayo Clinic and Case archives (he worked at both places) and from Syracuse University, which contains the Spock special collection. I interviewed several of his colleagues as well as his son. I spent much time at the Cleveland Library viewing microfilms of periodicals.

After the research stage I categorized the key information that would be essential to my script and made an outline. With a twenty-page outline, I assessed which information was crucial, would best illustrate the turn, and would show a balance between the negative and positive aspects of this turn. I had large amounts of research on Spock, the histories of pediatrics and psychology, and society's need. The task was to fine focus and hone this information into a well-formed and poignant ten minutes.

I spent car rides to and from school memorizing, and grabbed any spare time at home to choreograph the performance. During this time I brainstormed different ideas for a set. I wanted it to illustrate clearly Dr. Spock bringing together two roads, Pediatrics and Psychology that met society's need at a point in time. I wanted to portray the information in a creative way. I toyed with the idea of a mother telling the story, but I decided a baby would work well and would add pizzazz to my performance.

On the pediatric road, it wasn't until the end of World War II that critical issues in childhood diseases and nutrition were solved. The profession could re-direct its energies to psychological aspects. Dr. Spock was at this turning point as the catalyst. The ideas of psychologists and thinkers needed to be synthesized and turned to healthy emotional and mental growth of children. Spock stepped in at this point to join the two fields. Concurrently, with a move away from the extended family and advancements in medicine, parents looked for professional help in raising their children. They turned to Spock's book and called it their "Bible." Parenting turned from a rigid uniform approach to a commonsense, intuitive, individualized approach. Dr. Spock changed parenting.

This is a microfilm of the actual Congressional Record from 1950. On these pages, Senator McCarthy read into the record the text of his speech given February 9, 1950 to the Republican Women in Wheeling, West Virginia. The speech takes up a great deal of space in the Congressional Record, not because it is so long, but because of many interruptions by Mr. Lucas.

This article reveals the impact of the Army/McCarthy hearings on the Senator's popularity with the public. McCarthy was not presented in a very good light during the hearings. He was often nearly out of control and this hurt his popularity with the public.

This was probably the most important resource because it was written by the Senator himself. This book explains Joseph McCarthy's feelings and motives in his own words. It was written and published before the Army/McCarthy hearings, but it clearly demonstrates his resolve to rid America of the communist threat in our government. It further demonstrates that Joseph McCarthy was a dedicated public servant, educated and articulate. He was aware of the risks of his endeavor and he accepted the consequences.

This book is a collection of transcripts from the television program See It Now, hosted by well known journalist Edward R. Murrow. I used it to see exactly how Mr. Murrow portrayed Senator McCarthy. The transcripts clearly show Mr. Murrow’s talents and skill in journalism. This resource was important because Mr. Murrow was one of Senator McCarthy’s most effective critics with a wide audience during the McCarthy era.

“Telegram From Joseph McCarthy to President Harry Truman (February 11, 1950)

online: http://www.english.uiuc.edu (7 November 2005).

This is a digital copy of the telegram Senator McCarthy sent to President Truman informing him of the details of his February 9th in Wheeling, West Virginia. He tells the President about the list of 205 possible communists and communist sympathizers currently employed in the State Department, that Acheson has this list. He also tells the President that he has a list of 57 names. (McCarthy’s list included Mary Jane Keeney, listed in the Venona transcripts as a Soviet spy.) He further tells the President that he should lift the ban on Executive Department cooperation with Congressional investigations into communist infiltration into American government.
In this article, Joseph McCarthy and Senator Benton of Connecticut are interviewed separately to avoid disruptions which may result from debate between the two. The questions and answers were recorded and reported in the same article. These interviews were important in that they allowed each man to present his answers to timely issues in a side by side format. These interviews gave insights into the investigations of McCarthy which may have been sparked by anger or revenge on the part of Senator Benton. Benton was surely angered when Butler defeated Tydings in the Maryland Senate race. McCarthy supported Butler and helped him with the campaign. Senator Benton called for McCarthy's expulsion from the Senate relative to his conduct in Butler's campaign, but the interview showed Benton's frustration with McCarthy's behavior on and off the Senate floor.

Secondary Sources:

James J. Drummey is a former senior editor of The New American. In this article Drummey answers questions asked about Joseph McCarthy and the criticisms directed at him. This article contains explanations about McCarthy’s motives and the situation at the State Department prior to McCarthy’s investigations.

"Joseph McCarthy". The National Archives Learning Curve online http://www.spartacus.schoolnet.co.uk/USAmccarthy 7 November 2005
This article provided a different perspective of the events in the McCarthy era. It was primarily biographical and gave information about McCarthy’s life and work before he came to the Senate as well as his work against communism. This article details the influence of the press on the downfall of Joseph McCarthy. Several figures in the press had fought a long campaign against McCarthy, including I.F. Stone, Herb Block, and Edward R. Murrow.

In this article, Cliff Kincaid explains some of the ways the press in the present as well as in the past has used print media to discredit and demean Joseph McCarthy. Even the release of the Venona transcripts, which prompted this new wave of criticism, does not convince the press that the threat McCarthy warned of in the fifties was real.

This article details the new evidence that is available to historians with the release of the Venona transcripts and some KGB records from the former Soviet Union. Scholars now have the opportunity to verify their facts and possibly revise their view of Joseph McCarthy and his contributions to freedom. McCain points to two new books about McCarthy which make use of the newly released information. Journalist M. Stanton Evans states that as we learn more about what was going on in government in the 1940s and 1950s, the more we see how accurate McCarthy was.
Ted Morgan is a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist. In this book, Morgan argues that Senator Joseph McCarthy did not emerge in a vacuum. He outlines the events leading up to the recognition of the Soviet Union, the influx of Soviet agents into the United States, and the efforts of other Senators and Representatives to raise awareness of the problem. This book places McCarthyism in historical perspective and details the rise and fall of Senator Joseph McCarthy.

A People's War? Chapter 16 of A People's History of the United States, covers the years from 1945-1960. Much of this chapter explains world events which led to the Red Scare and McCarthyism in the United States. "It was not McCarthy and the Republicans, but the liberal Democratic Truman administration, whose Justice Department initiated a series of prosecutions that intensified the nation's anti-Communist mood." These kinds of events made the public ripe for McCarthy's brand of red hunting.
